Typewriter Operators

All typewriter operators that use the Wanamaker-Wellington machine are its loyal friends. Such as do not are apt to oppose it. Is it fair to condemn it untried? Sometime when you are in a judicial frame of mind stop in at our Typewriter Store and take a half-hour lesson that you may get acquainted with the machine. Sixty Dollars is the price.

Isn't it worth while to save forty dollars?

CAUGHT LOADED WITH JEWELS

SERAFIN GELAT, TEUTONIC'S PASSENGER, GOES TO JAIL.

They say he had $25,000 worth of jewelry in his pockets—He's a Retired Sea Captain and Gives a Life Saving Trophy to His Lawyer as a Retainer.

One of the passengers on the White Star liner Teutonic, which got in yesterday morning, was a rather distinguished looking man, with iron gray hair and mustache, who was down on the list of first cabin passengers as Capt. S. Gelat. On the way up from Quarantine Capt. Gelat told the customs officers that he had brought over nothing dutiable except two fans. On these he paid $5.50. After the Teutonic had docked, Inspector Timothy J. Donohue arrested Gelat and charged him with smuggling precious stones worth $25,000. Here is the list:

One case, containing 3 scarf pins, set with diamonds, rubies, sapphires, pearls and emeralds.
Sixteen finger rings, each set with precious stones.
A cameo and pearl brooch.
One turquoise and diamond bracelet, 1 sapphire bracelet, 1 pearl necklace, 20 uncut opals, 6 papers of uncut diamonds and rubies, 5 finger rings, 3 large uncut diamonds.
One case containing 24 canoes.
Five cases, each containing 2 pearl stoles.
One case, containing a fine set of jeweler's scales.

Donohue happened to saunter along the pier where Gelat's trunk was being examined. He noticed that Gelat was displaying unusual excitement over the examination, and every now and then would clap his hands over his lower coat pockets to make sure, apparently, that something was safe. Donohue brushed up against the captain, felt something hard in one coat pocket, apologized, went around on the other side, experienced the same sensation, apologized again and arrested the captain.

At the Federal Building the prisoner said he was Serafin Gelat, a retired sea captain, living in France. Asked who his friends were, he mentioned Nicholas Geoffrey, a manufacturing jeweler and dealer in precious stones at 2 Maiden lane, and others whom he failed to reach by telephone. One was F. Rosenthal. He had no difficulty in getting Mr. Geoffrey, who lives at 501 Fifth avenue and is a member of the Metropolitan and Union League clubs and of the Chamber of Commerce. Talking over the telephone with Commissioner Shields's office, Mr. Geoffrey said:

"I know this man slightly. If I remember right, I met him somewhere in Europe several years ago, when he was a tourist guide for De Pottier, the (cock) tours in Europe. Since then, he has been here and there, brought me Oriental goods to sell."

Later Mr. Geoffrey said to a Sun reporter: "This man has absolutely no claim upon me. He has been here before and must know what our customs laws are. Under the circumstances, I shall not interest myself in his case.

Shields held Gelat in $1,500 bail for examination this morning. When the old gentleman found that he had to go to jail he exclaimed:

"I am a ruined and broken man. I came here to establish a tourist agency and I have to go to jail."

In Ludlow Street Jail later he said:

"It is true that I know Mr. Geoffrey but slightly, but I thought he might help me. I will not talk about any business I ever had with him, but I will say that the jewelry that was taken from me was not brought over for him. I have a friend, and a very good one, in Peoria, Ill., but I won't say who he is. I didn't know I was violating any law in bringing in these things, and I did not try to conceal them. Why, they were in my pockets."

The captain speaks English with some difficulty. Italian very fluently and French pretty well. He has retained a lawyer named Joel M. Marx. For a retainer the old man gave the lawyer a gold watch bearing this inscription on the inside of the case:

TO SERAFIN GELAT.
In grateful recognition of his services to me, I have given him this watch.
In keeping from the steamship "Mahomed Ali" and swimming to his rescue on March 4, 1899, at Ancona.

In explaining the inscription Gelat said that he at the time was captain of the Mahomed Ali, from whose deck Rathbone had fallen. Rathbone, he said, is connected with the Greene Bank of Liverpool and is a son of a Member of Parliament.

INNOCENT MAN HANGED?

Negro Put to Death in Alabama Protestants That He Was Not Guilty.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 22.—Felix Hall, colored, was hanged in jail here yesterday at noon for the murder of Norwood Clark, a young white man, two years ago, at the Enaley Southern Railway camp. Hall walked to the scaffold protesting his innocence, saying he was in Mississippi at the time of the crime and that he never worked on the Southern Railway. When the drop fell the rope slipped. The man continued to breathe loudly for ten minutes, when he was hauled up and hanged a second time. His neck was broken by the second fall.

A young white man who witnessed the execution made a row by declaring that an innocent man had been hanged. After his conviction Hall got a respite to prove an alibi, and witnesses came from Mississippi, but Judge Greene was not satisfied with their identification. All efforts to make Hall confess failed. He said his right name was Henry Jackson.

SHOPLIFTER HERE AND ABROAD?

Police Catch an Englishman Who's Living at the Navarre.

Detective Sergeants Becker and Rein arraigned Edward E. Carrman, an Englishman, living at the Hotel Navarre, before Magistrate Mayo in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday on a charge of shoplifting.

They told the Magistrate that they had followed the prisoner about the shopping district, and finally arrested him at Twenty-third Street and Sixth avenue. When he was searched the key to his room in the hotel and several pawn tickets, four of which came from England, were found in his possession. They deduced from this that he had worked across the water and that he may be wanted in London. He was held in $1,000 bail for examination.

Men's Neckwear at 44c.—1st Fl.

It is not 44c. Neckwear—nor 50c.—nor 75c. Any one familiar with values will see at a glance that it is the quality usually retailed 'round town at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

We bought them from a manufacturer who does not make up anything under one dollar.

But these are Four-in-hands and Folded squares that represent the short lengths and odd pieces of his imported silks that grade the $1.00 to $1.50 Scarfs he produces. Choice while they last at 44c.

Our 94c., $1.44 and $1.94 Neckwear is a brilliant showing.
